TH THE ASSASSIN, CAP. TURED AND KILLED.

arsday's telegraphic despatches bring gratifying intelligence that J. Wilkes th, the assassin of President Lincoln s, on the day previous, tracked to his lair. d, in the attempt to take him, killed. It appears that on the night of the assasnation, Booth, after escaping from the city, cas thrown from his horse and broke his leg. The broken leg was set by a Dr. Mudd, a Marylander. Booth's boot was found and identified. With these facts to aid them, the Government detectives got on his trail, and tracked him into the swamps in St. Mary's county, Maryland, near the Potomac, his in tention being no doubt to escape across the river into Virginia, but this the picket boats patroling that stream, prevented him from doing, and the outskirts of the swamps were closely guarded, so that he could not fly in any direction. Thus he and his accomplice Harrold, had been penned up in the swamps ever since the night of the assassination. By information from a colored man, it was ascertained that on Tuesday night Booth and Harrold were ferried across the Potomac .-The detectives, with a squadron of the 16th N. Y. Cavalry, thereupon started on his trail in pursuit. They soon traced him to a barn between Bowling Green and Port Royal, render, which Harrold was in favor of doing, but upon Booth's calling him a coward, he refused to do so. The barn was then set on fire, and upon its getting too hot. Harrold again presented himself and put his hands through the door to be handcuffed. While this was going on, Booth fired upon the soldiers, upon which a Sergeant fired at him. The ball of the Sergeant took effect in the head of Booth, killing him, Harrold was taken alive. Booth's body was brought to the Washington navy yard last night. On being discovered in the barn by the cavalry, Booth declared his intention never to surrender, and said he would fight the whole squad, consisting of twenty-eight men, if they would permit him to place himself twenty yards distant. The scouting party was under the command of Lieutenant Edward Dougherty. Booth was on a crutch, and was lame. He lived two hours after he was shot, whispering blasphemies against the Government and sending a message to his .mother. At the time he was shot, it is said 'be was leaning on his crutch and preparing overthrowing the Government! to fire again upon his captors.

The body of Booth was taken to Washington for interment; and Harrold was taken to the same place and lodged in prison.

Less than $500,000,000 of the Loan anthorized by the last Congress are now on the market. This amount at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within four mouths, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscription to other Loans. In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loan, the National Banks, State Banks, and private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they re-
